- 3-1 The DTSC Northern California, Coastal Cleanup Operations Branch identifies many contaminated sites that may potentially impact the project during trench excavation and pipeline construction. DTSC recommends sampling be conducted prior to trenching, as well as the assessment of air quality impacts, noise, dust and risk of upset from an accident. The CSLC notes that DTSC has also offered assistance to the CSLC to oversee site characterization and cleanup activities under the Voluntary Cleanup Program and requests to be included in any project meetings related to DTSC authority. As described in Section F, Table F-5 on page F-8 of the Draft EIR, regarding mitigation monitoring, the CSLC would undertake primary responsibility for monitoring of all measures it adopts as part of the decision on the Proposed Project. Coordination with DTSC would occur prior to the start of project construction, to ensure that DTSC is involved in the monitoring process where relevant.

The Draft EIR, Section D.6 (Environmental Contamination and Hazardous Materials) pages D.6-8 through D.6-9, includes Mitigation Measures EC-1a and EC-1b (Reviewing Agency Records), which would require a review of agency files and development of a sampling and testing program for sites that may potentially impact the project. The Draft EIR, on page D.6-9, also includes Mitigation Measure EC-1c (Unknown Soil or Groundwater Contamination), which would require monitoring during all trenching in the event unknown contamination is encountered. These measures would also require coordination of these activities with DTSC prior to and during construction. Mitigation Measure EC-5a (Site Characterization After Accident), on Draft EIR page D.6-12, requires site characterization, including coordination with DTSC, after a pipeline accident.
